

prosopagnosia

i remind you of someone but you can't remember who okay so i'm not only not unique but also not memorable three swans sit on the frozen lake, aren't they cold i think standing there in my stupid human clothes every other creature is better suited for the world than us robots already took our jobs, we just made up useless new ones we have so many more imaginary enemies than friends we made up morals but we don't even live by them, we live instead in a venn diagram of hell and middle management